

Alderley Park, Alderley Edge

The client

PH Homes have a reputation for building the highest quality homes in the very best locations, for the most discerning clients.

HOMES

The brief

Alderley Park is an exclusive residential enclave, offering three distinct styles of living in a collection of homes beautifully designed by internationally-revered architect Robert Adam. The properties were exquisitely created by renowned luxury developer PH Homes.

Haddonstone was approached to supply architectural stone to two of the luxurious developments at Alderley Park, both of which boast a variety of differing but complementary styles. The Serpentine, which is the largest of the three developments, includes 33 family homes, ranging in size and style and is arranged around mature trees and woodland. The Ride includes 14 detached and semi-detached homes ranging from two to five bedrooms, all of which follow the local vernacular with red brick, bay windows and tall chimneys.

The solution

Haddonstone worked with PH Homes and PCS Stone Specialists to design and produce a range of high-quality stonework for both The Serpentine and The Ride developments.

A range of impressive Haddonstone porticos were produced for many properties within The Serpentine development, adding a sophisticated entrance to the façade of these luxury homes. Similarly, stylish door surrounds were manufactured for The Ride development, again adding a beautiful and characteristic feature and enabling the many properties within the development to work holistically.

Many of the properties at Alderley Park are further enhanced by stunning cornices and copings in matching stonework, all of which are manufactured by the skilled team at Haddonstone.

Client testimonials

"Alderley Park is a highly desirable development of exclusive family homes. Given PH Homes' enviable reputation for building the highest quality homes nationally and internationally, it was imperative that we selected the best materials, architects and contractors to work on this project. We selected Haddonstone as our primary stone supplier for Alderley Park as they were able to supply excellent quality architectural stonework to a high level of specification. As each property has its own unique characteristics, it was important that Haddonstone could deliver custom designs as well as standard components.
